Dear President QIU,

First and foremost, I wish to express my sincerest congratulations to Tsinghua University for a distinguished 110 years of service to education and leadership in knowledge production. I am honored to receive your invitation to become a part of the celebration and delighted to have such a precious opportunity by sending my words in this letter.

Tsinghua University and Osaka University have been in a partnership for a number of years. We thank Tsinghua University for its longstanding support, and sincerely hope that our partnership will continue and grow stronger in coming years. It is especially crucial for us now to work together to be a positive and innovative force in shaping the way higher education institutions respond to this time of global uncertainty.

Once again, please accept my heartfelt congratulations on the 110th anniversary. I wish the best for the success, fulfillment, and good health of you and everyone in the Tsinghua University community.

Yours sincerely,

NISHIO Shojiro, PhD
